A BRIEF BACKGROUND

Accessing global banking services poses significant challenges for individuals, non-residents, businesses, funds and institutions, particularly in regions like the UAE, UK, and India.

To address these issues, innovative solutions are required to bridge the gap in accessing global banking.

Traditional banks have adopted risk-averse strategies, leading to the closure of accounts and stricter eligibility criteria based on residency, citizenship, minimum assets, and income requirements. These obstacles hinder entirely respectable clients from opening accounts and accessing essential banking services.

Offshore banking is a crucial component of global transaction banking, serving as a cornerstone for international investment and growth opportunities. As more individuals and businesses seek these avenues, they are turning to alternative banking options that offer streamlined processes for account opening.

However, the demand for accessible banking solutions remain unmet as traditional banks continue to present barriers, making it challenging for clients to establish their financial presence in different jurisdictions. The need for efficient and inclusive banking services in a globalised economy is more pressing than ever.

To address these issues, innovative solutions are required to bridge the gap in accessing global banking. Industry players are striving to revolutionise the way banking is conducted, ensuring that clients have the necessary tools and resources to seamlessly navigate the complexities of international finance.

Comprehensive suites of financial solutions are being developed to cater for the specific needs of clients, including account management, cross-border transactions, and investment opportunities. These industry-focused initiatives aim to empower individuals and businesses, enabling them to overcome the challenges associated with traditional banking systems.

In conclusion, accessing global banking services presents significant hurdles for individuals and businesses worldwide.

Interpolitan recognises the need for alternative banking with an alternative vision to provide streamlined processes and inclusive services. Whilst maintaining the highest compliance and regulatory standards, we have sought to develop innovative solutions and comprehensive financial suites, we aim to transform the way banking is conducted, empowering clients to capitalise on international investment and growth opportunities in an increasingly interconnected world.

Access to local banking in various jurisdictions via traditional banks and offshore banking has become increasingly more challenging.

2.

CASE STUDY

Mitigating currency risk for Euro Exim Bank

01 / The Challenge

Euro Exim Bank, a reputable financial service provider offering letters of credits to its clients and various alternative corporate funding options, faced a significant challenge in finding a suitable banking partner to secure a multi-currency account allowing them to efficiently manage currency risk. As they conducted business globally and dealt with various currencies, they needed a solution that would enable them to send and receive funds in multiple currencies while effectively hedging their exposure.

02 / The Approach

Interpolitan, as an alternative banking provider, recognised the potential of assisting Euro Exim Bank in optimising their financial operations. Our expertise in managing multi-currency accounts and our innovative approach to risk management made us an ideal partner for Euro Exim Bank. To tackle the challenge at hand, Interpolitan engaged in detailed discussions with Euro Exim Bank's team to thoroughly understand their business model, currency requirements, and risk mitigation strategies.

CASE STUDY

Interpolitan completes £100m London property deal for UHNWI

01 / The Challenge

Interpolitan has advised on and provided banking solutions to an Ultra-High-Net-Wealth Individual (UHNWI) client, in order to facilitate the completion of a significant sale of a prime real estate property in central London with a value exceeding £100m. The non-resident client sold the property held within a Special Purchase Vehicle (SPV). The client was unsuccessful in securing a UK non-resident account with several UK banks, which was stalling the release of funds from the sale.

02 / The Approach

As with any property sale in the UK, under the Solicitors Accounts Rules 2019 (SAR 19), the acting law firm is only able to send proceeds from a property sale to the beneficial owner and not a designated third party. Therefore, the lawyers required the client to establish a local current account for the SPV in order to receive a settlement of the sale proceeds. With an element of speed required to complete the transfer of funds following the sale, the client identified Interpolitan, which has completed similar structured deals. We were able to onboard and open a UK-based current account for the client within 5 days, taking into account all the necessary compliance checks. The speed at which the client secured their facility was a key factor.

03 / The Result

Working in partnership with the client's Tier-1 law firm, an account was opened within 5 days, which is a fraction of the time a traditional high-street bank would take to set up a facility for a non-resident. The sale proceeds were transferred to the client's current account at Interpolitan, completing the sale of the trophy asset. The client subsequently completed a series of domestic and international transactions.

INDIA

Solving the problem of obtaining Overseas Bank Accounts for Indian Companies

A YEAR THAT WAS... Anoop Nair, Head of Country - India

“The globalisation of Indians is a key trend that we will ride on, and we will continue to support bridging the gap in banking.”

India presents a large opportunity for Interpolitan. As a business that is focused on Global Transaction Banking, we genuinely believe that there's a big void waiting to be filled to make cross-border banking seamless & frictionless.

Access to offshore banking is one of the tenets of transaction banking, globally. We are setting out to solve this through a solution under LRS (Liberalised Remittance Scheme) for students & individuals.

01. Anoop Nair - Head of Country (India)

02. Rishi Patel - Founder & CEO

A key trend we will embrace is supporting wealth diversification and how individuals & institutions are looking at diverse ways to deploy their wealth offshore. We believe this story will continue to play out for the next 3-5 years owing to the rising inflationary pressures, currency weakening and Indians demanding better conditions of living.

More and more Indians are looking at buying immovable properties offshore & are actively looking at residencies, businesses & education. The globalisation of Indians is a key trend that we will ride on, and we will continue to support bridging the gap in banking through our alternative account solutions that we already provide to thousands of clients.

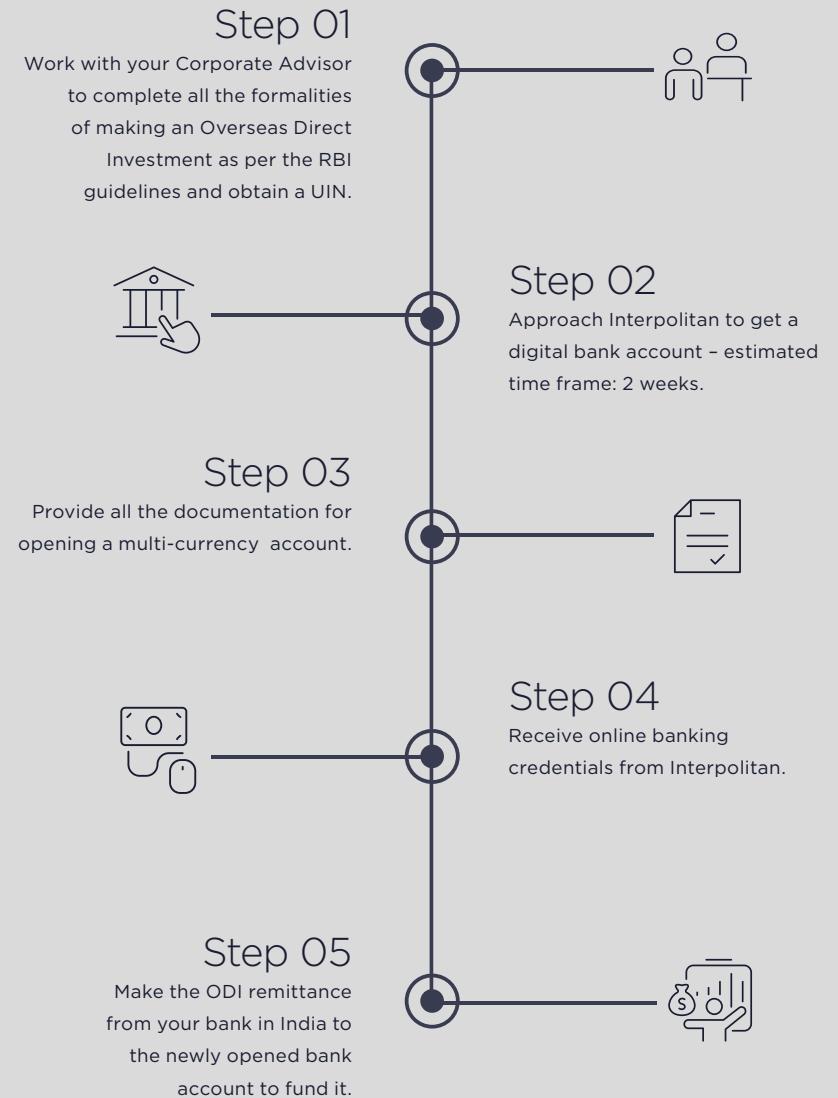

In the near term, Interpolitan will be recognised as a global private banking brand that provides customised solutions to its clients, starting with current accounts and associated ecosystems of trade, company setup, deal-making, investments & loans. We aim to become a full-service firm that will continue to look at our high-value clients' needs from a holistic point of view.

Liberalised Remittance Scheme (LRS) Solution

01 / The Challenge

Students are required to show that they have enough money to support themselves while studying in the UK. They'll need to show a set amount of money for each month of the course, for up to 9 months. If they are applying from overseas, or applying in the UK without having lived in the country for 12 months or more, they must prove they have enough money to cover their course fees, boarding fees, living costs, etc. Students must show these funds available to them in a bank account that is regulated by a financial regulator of the country where the bank account is opened. These funds must be available in the account for a period of 28 days.

02 / The Approach

Under our LRS solution (Liberalised Remittance Scheme) offered in partnership with Barclays Bank Mumbai, we are able to onboard a student and offer them a unique named account with an account number and sort code. Students will be offered a preferential price to open an Interpolitan account and initiate their first transaction through our LRS workflow to pay to a beneficiary (usually the first instalment of the tuition). Subsequently, they can remit the required funds from their bank, into their account with us, for the financial requirement as stated above. A statement can be provided to the student once funds are deposited, and we can provide a stamped document, at a fee, for final submission to the UK Visa Office in India.

The Project Statistic

Banking statement accept by HRMC

1.09m

Indian students study in 85 countries

5 Days

Account opening

03 / The Result

The UK Home Office accepts Interpolitan account statements and recognises them as proof of funds. This is a critical requirement for obtaining a UK Student Visa as an Indian student.

Key benefits:

1. Student gets a named account even before they set foot in the UK. This is an impossibility today with the likes of Wise, Revolut etc.
2. Students can use their account to evidence the financial requirement as stated by the UK Government.
3. Students can use this account to pre-fund expenses out of India on a regular basis.
